INTRODUCTION

The success of financial institutions for working in the middle of the pressure and competition are not sharp enough regardless of the quality and performance of its human resources. According to Hadari Nawawi (2006 : 46), human resources is a potential and is an asset and serves as capital (non material/non financial) in the Organization, which is transformed into a real potential physical and non physical in realizing the existence of the organization.

The quality of human resources it needs can be fulfilled by doing development that leads to training and education sumber human resources. Education, training and coaching is an attempt to develop sumber human resources (HR), especially to develop intellectual abilities and personality of human beings.

According to Soekidjo Notoadmodjo (2009 : 5) , Human resource development is an effort to develop the quality or ability of the human resources planning process through education, training and management of personnel or employees to achieve optimum results

In addition to the development of human resources, one of the things that should be the main concern of the company is its employees, job satisfaction because employees in the work they do not feel the comfort, under-appreciated, could not develop all the potential they have, then the employee can not automatically focus and concentrate fully against the work.

This study chose PT Bank BNI Medan as an object of research based on the performance of employees who are not optimal to achieve the vision and mission of the company. It can be seen from the results of employee performance based on Performance Appraisal by 2013.

Rating	Definition	Performance Appraisal (Goal Setting)	Performance Appraisal result 2013
K 1: Below Expectation	Performance and behavior is below expectation. Only achieved less than 50% of the goals.	5%	8%
K 2: Need Improvement	Some areas of improvement in terms of both performance and behavior.	10%	17%

	Achievement of goals is between 51%-75%		challenges, cope with change and the rapid developments in the banking industry.
K 3: Meet Expectation	Consistent performance and behavior and achieved 76%-100% of goals	60%	58% In addition, other reasons related to the employee's performance is not free employees to develop all the potential or ideas they have because of the constrained by regulations set out company so incurred dissatisfaction against work and company.
K 4: Outstanding	Outstanding performance and behavior and achieved 101%-125% of goals	20%	15.85%
K 5: Exceptional	Exceptional performance and behavior (> 125%)	5%	1.15%

Based on the table above can be known, if overall employee performance based on the results of the Performance Appraisal of 2013 has not met the Goal setting of performance appraisal that is targeted by the company. To unearth information about the performance appraisal rating 2013, researchers tried to conduct interviews with some of the related Division Head regarding the results of the performance of employees in the year 2013.

From the results of the interviews researchers note that lack of education planning, training and management of employees regularly and continuous conducted by PT Bank BNI Medan . In other words it takes human resource development quality, capable of answering all

Based on the explanations that had been delivered the previous researchers are convinced of the need to do further studies on the analysis of the influence of human resources development and job satisfaction on performance of employees of PT Bank BNI Medan.

A REVIEW OF THE LITERATURE

Understanding The Performance

Performance within an organization is one element that can not be separated in the exercise of the tasks of the Organization be it in government institutions and private.

A large Indonesian Language in the dictionary it says that the performance was something accomplished achievements are shown and work ability. According to Mangkunegara (Mangkunegara, 2007 : 9), performance (achievements) is the result of work quality and kuantitas achieved by an employee in the performance of his duties in accordance with the responsibilities given to him.

Factors that Affect the achievement of the performance

According to Business, Blanchard and Johnson in Wibowo (2010:101) formulate the existence of seven performance factors that affect performance and is formulated with the acronym ACHIEVE: Ability (knowledge and skills) ; Clarity (understanding or role perception) ; Help (organisational support) ; Incentive (motivation or willingness) ; Evaluation (coaching and performance feedback) ; Validity (valid personal and legal practices) ; Environment (Environmental fit)

Human Resources Development

Human resources is one of the asset an organization's most valuable, because with a good human resources then expected to be able to respond to all the challenges that come both from within and outside the Organization to achieve the objectives of the organization. To obtain the human resources that the expected one of them through the development of human resources quality of money based on a calculation of need in accordance with the Office of analysis and analysis of the needs of employees, in order to obtain the right human resources properly qualified in accordance with the needs of the organization.

Human resource development is an effort to develop the quality or ability of the human resources planning process through education, training and management of personnel or employees to achieve optimum results (Soekidjo Notoadmodjo, 2009 : 5).

Human resources development process involves changing behavior (behavior Engineering). The word "learn" according to experts is indeed always involves the process of behavior change (from one State to the other is better). In addition, it must also be affirmed that "learning experience" in the prose there should be done consciously, that is well planned, carefully implemented and measured the level of effectiveness. From the above sense then human resource development is the process of changing human resources owned by the Organization, from one State to another that is better to prepare for a future responsibility in achieving the objectives of the organization.

Factors to consider in training and development

According to the Mangkunegara (2007:45) called that the factors that need to be noticed in training and development are as follows:

1. The difference of individual employees
2. Relationship with the Office of analysis
3. Motivation
4. Active participation
5. Selection of trainees
6. Methods of training and development

The Sense Of Job Satisfaction

According to Robbins (2007:31) job satisfaction (job satisfaction) refers to an individual's general attitude toward her work. A high level of job satisfaction showed a positive attitude towards work; a person who is dissatisfied with her job showed a negative attitude towards his work.

Factors that affect job satisfaction

1. Rewards
2. Jobs
3. Employment relationships (colleagues and superiors)

Frame Of Mind

From the explanation above it can be concluded that in order to get the optimal performance is required for human resource development based on the needs of the Organization and job satisfaction. The quality of human resources it needs can be fulfilled by doing development that leads to training and education shuman resources umber (Soekidjo Notoadmodjo, 2009 : 5).

Job satisfaction (job satisfaction) refers to an individual's general attitude toward her work. A high level of job satisfaction showed a positive attitude towards work; a person who is dissatisfied with her job showed a negative attitude towards her job (Robbins, 2007:31).

Research Hypotheses

Based on the formulation of the problem, research objectives, description of the study of literature and analysis of the model above, the hypothesis of the research presented in this study by researchers as follows:

1. H_1 : variables for human resource development have an effect on the variable performance of employees of PT Bank BNI Medan.

RESEARCH METHODS

Design Research

The type of research conducted at this writing using research methods qualitative, descriptive, Verifikatif and surveys. This research was used to test the influence of variable X_1 and X_2 against Y researched.

With the use of research methods and statistical analysis, it will be known relationships between the variables examined, resulting in conclusions that will clarify the description about the object examined.

The required data is data that is in accordance with the issues and in accordance with the research objectives, so that the data is collected, analyzed and further processed in accordance with the theories that have been studied, so the data will be drawn the conclusion.

This test wants to examine whether human resources development and job satisfaction influence on performance of employees of PT Bank BNI Medan,.

Research Variables

In this study there are two kinds of variables, i.e.
